“ LouAnn I am so so sorry. Elaine called me and I just haven't been able to wrap my head around Kristy passing. Shock and disbelief. You and Brad are in my thoughts and my prayers. Your mom and Joe and Gwen also. Years have passed but I never forgot that sweet baby girl and all the memories. The memories of that tiny baby you brought home. The toddler. The little girl that was waiting for us to bring Jamey home so she could hold him. Oh so many sweet and beautiful memories.

“ The years have come and gone, we had separate lives but any time we spoke on the phone we became those two little girls from long ago. Distance and time didn't matter, we talked as if none of those things existed. We had a many of secret talks in your closet or mine, laughing and carrying on as little girls do. One memory that makes me laugh today is you hitting me in the nose with a tennis racket fighting over winning, it's still vivid today. I don't understand the Why in all of this, it's hard to comprehend, devastating to say the least, heartbreaking. Just as time and distance has been so will it be now just a little further with more time in between. Kristy you will always be in my heart, cherished and so loved. Until it is time for us to meet again I will carry your memory with me in my heart. I Love You.....

“ She could put a smile on your face and always had a sweet voice to brighten up your day. We played softball together starting in rec. ball on through high school. We were a lot closer in our younger days and sort of grew apart and were reunited when Mercedes and Faith, my daughter, played softball together. We would catch up and tell our kids some of our fun times together! I can't put it in words but she was loved by so many. I hope Mercedes will continue her softball journey. I know Kristy will be talking ball with my Daddy now. God was needing a special angel. Things will definitely be different but my heart goes out to her Mom and daughter. Prayers for comfort and peace! I'm so glad we got to get back in touch and will miss our 'bleacher conversations'! Rest high beautiful girl we love you!

“ You will be missed by so many. I didn't know you as well as others, but the softball world brings you so many extended friends. You were always such a bright light anytime we crossed paths at the ball field. May you rest in peace. Praying for your family especially your sweet daughter.

“Kristy trusted me to care for Mercedes and her personal space, home-sitting when away. She helped me when I needed it. She invited anyone I trusted into to her home. I know she adored Mercedes and Carter and love for her family and pets. All of them so many of them :). I remember her ordering a special burial for Amber when she lost beloved pet. God bless each of you with this very unexpected loss.

“ Where to start... we shared so many hours together every month. Kristy loved her long blonde hair and we always looked forward to catching up with each other. She was such a dedicated woman and the happiest I have ever seen her at her last visit! She spoke of so much love she had in her life and really lived every day enjoying and valuing the people around her. I will miss her visits so much. Irreplaceable. 💔
