“ I'm sorry for your loss. May God hold you all tight and watch over you during this difficult time. I only have memories of all of you when we were kids here in Ohio before you moved to Tennessee. Spending the night at your house in Darbydale and my mom picking you up and taking us for ice cream, seeing everyone at Grandma Coy's house on holidays. Take this time to heal and remember the good times you had together, live each day to the fullest because tomorrow is never promised. Take care...Love ya!

My thoughts and prayers are with the Coy family. I worked with her briefly in the cafeteria at Carson-Newman, while going for my degree.
