Ray always meant well and had good intentions. At one point he had a clear plan in mind to become the stability of Brayden's future. I heard stories of looking over Braydens homework and weekends fishing. I was proud to see Raymond go to parenting classes and take on other commitments to learn to become a good parent. If you know Ray you probably know, he's a hard worker physically but I've seen him with an office job and do quite well, with his mind clear. Raymond, rest in peace, you've done a lot of good and gone way too soon. Brayden, when you read this, know your father tried hard for you and got knocked down during that process but he kept getting back up and back on course. He knew he needed to learn how to be a good dad and he sought professional help in learning to do so.

If you are Raymonds friend and you need help, just take the step, you can change your life and turn it around. It may not be easy but you can do it and it will be worth it.

.....Farewell good friend, you always walked the line of integrity with me.
